Headteacher's message

Dear all,

What a busy few weeks it has been. It has been noticeable that the temperature has started to drop in the mornings. We advise that all children 'layer up' due to the increased ventilation within the classrooms. With winter now upon us please remember to check the Norfolk County Council website for any closures - <http://www.schools.norfolk.gov.uk>¹. We will also try to text you to let you know and put the information on the website.

Federation News

'Our School: Our World' - Class News

We have been working closely with the Diocese on their 'Our School: Our World' project. This project focuses on how the school can use the Christian teachings of the bible to help keep God's planet clean and safe.

Across the federation in classes, we have been designing a range of different ways to improve the eco agenda around the school sites. Each school has introduced their own eco council to tackle the different initiatives across their setting. Over the last week, all classes have spent time nurturing the outside areas of the school sites. We look forward to All Saints restarting their garden as part of their eco initiatives.

Over the next few months, we will be looking at how the whole school community can engage in social action and be courageous advocates for change in their local, national and global communities.

Collective Worship

This half term we are looking at the value 'wisdom'. Children will be sharing stories from the bible as well as other stories, both fiction and non-fiction, that enable us to think about what wisdom means.

They are always looking for more members - if you would like to join please contact your school office and they will be able to direct you to the members of the associations.

COVID Guidelines

Positive Lateral Flow Tests

From 11 January in England, people who receive positive lateral flow device (LFD) test results for coronavirus (COVID-19) will be required to self-isolate immediately and won't be required to take a confirmatory PCR test. Positive LFD test results will still need to be reported to the government website.

From Monday 17th January, self isolation is reduced to 5 days for those with negative LFD tests as follows

Following a positive test result you should self isolate for 10 days, however, LFD tests can be resumed from day 5 (and must be taken 24 hours apart) - when two consecutive negative results are received and only providing you have no raised temperature, isolation can end. After day 10, you may end self-isolation even if a LFD test is positive, providing you have no raised temperature.

Those who leave self-isolation after day 5 are strongly advised to limit close contact with other people in crowded or poorly ventilated spaces, work from home and minimise contact with anyone who is at higher risk of severe illness if infected with COVID-19.

Close contacts

If you are aged 5 years and over and have been identified as a contact of someone with COVID-19, but are not legally required to self-isolate, you are strongly advised to:

- take an LFD test every day for 7 days, or until 10 days since your last contact with the person who tested positive for COVID-19 if this is earlier
- take this daily test before you leave the household for the first time that day.
